

The Written Fund

(A Covered Option Writing Fund)

Investment Objective

To achieve medium to long term capital appreciation.

Investment Policy

The Fund will be actively managed and will invest the majority of its assets in a portfolio of equities and equity-related securities, which are listed on Recognised Exchanges in the UK, Europe, and the US.

Equity investments will be combined with an active equity option writing strategy, as further set out below. The Sub-Investment Manager will seek at its discretion to use option strategies to enhance returns on the basis of both proprietary fundamental and option research.

A full summary of the Fund's borrowing powers are set out in the Supplemental Prospectus.

Investment strategy

The Portfolio Manager of the Fund will employ a strategy of option writing over a portfolio of equities and cash or near cash products with the aim of achieving total returns. Returns will be derived from option premiums, dividends, interest and potential growth from equities.

The Portfolio Manager will assess and select companies through a bottom up approach using fundamental analysis, valuation measurement and thematic ideas with the help of a proprietary screening model. This is combined with option volatility pricing analysis and short-term timing techniques. The Portfolio Manager will then construct a portfolio of exposures to each company using a combination of equity and options. The Fund will predominantly utilise two main investment techniques, Covered Call writing and Put writing, both of which are explained fully in the Supplemental Prospectus.

The portfolio of exposure will typically be to between 15 and 40 individual, predominantly large capitalisation companies across a range of sectors and geographical locations. The Portfolio Manager can choose not to have exposure to certain sectors, subsectors and countries. In order to maintain flexibility and to have the ability to invest in opportunities as they arise, the Fund will not be required to invest any particular percentage of its Net Asset Value in any geographic or industry sector except that exposure to any one stock will be limited to 10% of the Fund and exposure to any one sector will be limited to 30% of the Fund, Total exposure of the Fund will be targeted to 130% of the total value of the Fund. All holdings will be under regular review. The Portfolio Manager may also use any other Efficient Portfolio Management techniques in the management of risk.

The investment strategy differs from that in conventional funds in that it exploits the risk defining opportunities that options provide. The use of options allows the Portfolio Manager to utilise as much or as little risk as required. The allocation of market risk becomes a matter of choice for the Portfolio Manager rather than given out arbitrarily by the market.

Potential investors should receive and read finalised scheme documents ahead of any potential investment. Potential investors should seek independent financial advice before making an investment.

MORE INFORMATION

Ongoing Charges Figure (OCF) This figure is designed to provide investors with the most accurate measure of what it costs to invest in a fund over a year. The OCF includes the fee paid to Gate Capital for the management of the fund (The Annual management Charge) with the remainder of the OCF covering costs paid to external companies for other services relating to the ongoing administration and management of the Fund, including fees paid to the depository, custodian, regulator, auditor and administrator. The OCF is not paid directly by the investors but is deducted from the value of the fund and is reflected in the share price. The OCF published here is an estimate.

Initial Charge. This is a one-off charge taken from your money prior to investment in shares in the fund. The initial charge has been waived by Gate Capital until further notice. However, if you have invested through a Financial Adviser, the initial charge may still apply and be paid to your adviser.

RISK FACTORS

Investment in the Fund carries with it a degree of risk including, but not limited to, the risks described in the "Risk Factors" section of the Prospectus. Specifically, the Manager considers that the risk factors entitled "Derivatives and Techniques and Instruments Risk" and "Derivatives Trading Risk", which are described in the Prospectus, are relevant to an investment in the Fund noting option strategy employed by the Fund and the Fund's use of derivatives, as detailed within the 'Investment Policy and Strategy'. In addition, the attention of investors is drawn to the following additional risk factors:

Equity Risk - Investing in equity securities (which include common stock and preferred stock) and derivatives on such equity securities may offer a higher rate of return than those investing in debt securities or other types of investments. However, the risks associated with investments in equity securities may also be higher, because the investment performance of equity securities depends upon factors which are difficult to predict. Such factors include the possibility of sudden or prolonged market declines which are not specifically related to the particular company or issuer owing to adverse economic conditions, changes in interest rates or currency rates or general outlook for corporate entities and risks associated with individual companies or issuers. The fundamental risk associated with any equity portfolio is the risk that the value of the investments it holds might suddenly and substantially decrease in value as a result in changes in a company's financial position and overall market and economic conditions. The value of convertible equity securities may also be affected by prevailing interest rates, the credit quality of the issuer and any call provisions.

Market Risk and Change in Market Conditions - The investments of the Fund are subject to risks inherent in all investments. The value of holdings may fall as well as rise, sometimes rapidly and unpredictably. The price of investments will fluctuate and can decline in value due to factors affecting financial markets generally or particular industries, sectors, companies, countries or geographies represented in the portfolio, thus reducing the value of a portfolio. The value of an investment may decline due to general market conditions which are not specifically related to the particular investment, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions, changes in the general outlook of macro-economic fundamentals, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. It may also decline due to factors which affect a particular region, sector or industry, such as labour shortages or increased production costs and competitive conditions. Some investments may be less liquid and/or more volatile than others and therefore may involve greater risk.

The Fund's performance may be adversely affected by unfavourable markets and unstable economic conditions or other events, which may result in unanticipated losses that are beyond the control of the Fund.

If there are any disruptions or failures in the financial markets or the failure of financial sector companies, the Fund's portfolio could decline sharply and severely in value or become valueless and the Sub-Investment Manager may not be able to avoid significant losses in that Fund. Investors may lose a substantial proportion or all of their investments.

Changes in the UK political environment - Changes in the UK political environment following the UK's decision by referendum to exit from the EU has led to and is likely to lead to further political, legal, tax and economic uncertainty. This has already and is likely to continue to impact general economic conditions in the UK. A UK exit could adversely affect the Sub-Investment Manager's ability to access markets, make investments, attract and retain employees or enter into agreements (on its own behalf or on behalf of the Fund) or continue to work with non-UK counterparties and service providers, all of which could result in increased costs to the Company and/or the Fund. It may also result in volatility in the Fund in instances where it has exposure to the UK financial markets or the UK currency. The decision by the UK to leave the EU may destabilise some or all of the other 27 members of the EU and/or the Eurozone which may also have a material adverse effect on the Company, its service providers and counterparties.

Counterparty Risk - The Fund will have a credit risk on the counterparties with which it trades. In the event of the insolvency, bankruptcy or default of any such counterparty the Fund bears the risk that the counterparty may not settle a transaction in accordance with market practice due to credit or liquidity problems of the counterparty, or due to the insolvency, fraud or regulatory sanction of the counterparty, thus causing the Fund to suffer a loss.

The Fund may have exposure to trading counterparties other than the Depository. The Sub-Investment Manager on account of the Fund may enter into transactions with financial institutions, such as brokerage firms, broker-dealers and banks.

These financial institutions, being counterparty to the transactions, may also be issuers of other investments in which the Fund invests. The Fund's transactions involve counterparty credit risk and will expose the Fund to unanticipated losses to the extent that counterparties are unable or unwilling to fulfil their contractual obligations. With respect to exchange traded derivatives and centrally cleared OTC derivatives, there is a risk of a potential default of the exchange, clearing house or the clearing broker. In certain circumstances, the Fund may encounter delays and difficulties with respect to court procedures in seeking recovery of the Fund's assets. While the Sub-Investment Manager may have contractual remedies upon any default pursuant to the agreements related to the transactions, such remedies could be inadequate, however, to the extent that the collateral or other assets available are insufficient. Deposits of securities or cash with a depository, bank or financial institution ("depository") will also carry counterparty risk as the depository may be unable to perform their obligations due to credit-related and other events like insolvency or default by them. In these circumstances, the Fund may be required to exit certain transactions, may encounter delays of some years, and may encounter difficulties with respect to court procedures in seeking recovery of the Fund's assets.

These investment risks are not purported to be exhaustive and potential Shareholders should review the Prospectus and this Supplement carefully and consult with their professional advisers before making an application for Shares. There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective.
